Rio Maggiore, elevation 35 meters, population 1,881.

The highest of the Cinque Terre, it is headquarters of the protected Cinque Terre National Park and its Punta di Montenero and Punta del Mesco are well-known scuba-diving destinations. Originally named after the Rivus Major, it is now most famous as the starting point for its "lovers walk", the Via dell'Amore, carved into the rocky coast winding its way to the nearby town of Manarola. Look for the charming "Due Gemelli" hotel tucked in the vineyards high up over the sea.
